VOLUME 12 INDEX

NO. 1, SPRING 2001 1–102
NO. 2, SUMMER 2001 103–218
NO. 3, FALL 2001 219–330
NO. 4, WINTER 2001 331–448

A

Accountability, in nonprofits, 224
Adaptive learning, 423–424
Affective commitment, 337
Affective learning, 11–12
American Society for Training and Development, 73
"Analyzing Firm Training: Five Propositions for Future Research," 147–167
"Applying a Team Effectiveness Framework to the Performance of Student Case Teams," 385–402
"Appropriate and Inappropriate Behaviors for International Training," 267–283
Ardichvili, A., "Leadership Styles and Work-Related Values of Managers and Employees of Manufacturing Enterprises in Post-Communist Countries," 363–383
Articles: "Applying a Team Effectiveness Framework to the Performance of Student Case Teams," 385–402; "Appropriate and Inappropriate Behaviors for International Training," 267–283; "Characteristics of Performance Appraisals and Their Impact on Sales Force Satisfaction," 127–146; "Developing an Instrument for Measuring Attitudes Toward and Perceptions of Workplace Diversity: An Initial Report," 33–51; "Effects of Perceived Discrimination on Job Satisfaction, Organizational Commitment, Organizational Citizenship Behavior, and Grievances," 53–72; "Goal Orientation and Practice Condition as Predictors of Training Results," 403–419; "HRD as an Emergent and Negotiated Evolution: An Ethnographic Case Study in the British National Health Service," 169–193; "Ineffective Reaction Evaluation," 73–90; "Integrating Learning and Work: Problems and Prospects," 421–435; "Invited Reaction: The Relationship Between Training and Organizational Commitment—A Study in the Health Care Field," 353–361; "Leadership Styles and Work-Related Values of Managers and Employees of Manufacturing Enterprises in Post-Communist Countries," 363–383; "Organizational Socialization as Instrument and Symbol: An Extended Institutional Theory Perspective," 247–266; "The Relationship Between Organizational Support, Employee Development, and Organizational Commitment: An Empirical Study," 285–300; "Theories Supporting Transfer of Training," 195–208; "Work-Related Learning as a Core Value: An Iowa Perspective," 301–318
Atheoretical practice, 94
Australia, firm training in. See Firm training (study)
Automation, firm training and, 156–158
Avolio, B. J., Full Leadership Development: Building the Vital Forces in Organizations, reviewed, 99–102
Award structuring, 159–160

B

Bartlett, K. R., "The Relationship Between Training and Organizational Commitment: A Study in the Health Care Field," 335–352
Black, W. C., "Invited Reaction: The Influence of Individual Characteristics and the Work Environment on Varying Levels of Training Outcomes," 25–32
Boyle, M. A., "Appropriate and Inappropriate Behaviors for International Training," 267–283
Brethower, D. M., "Invited Reaction: Posttraining Interventions to Enhance Transfer," 121–125
Burba, F. J., "Appropriate and Inappropriate Behaviors for International Training," 267–283
Burke, W., review by, 99–102

Copyright © 2001 John Wiley & Sons, Inc.

Business strategy: employee development and, 155; human resource management and, 152–153

C

Career development, 286. See also Employee development
Career paths, 257
Center for Education Research and Innovation (CERI), 147–148;
Certification, 211
Change: learning and, 301. See also Organizational change; Workplace change
Changing Nature of Performance: Implications for Staffing, Motivation, and Development, The, reviewed, 215–217
Chaos theory, 328
"Characteristics of Performance Appraisals and Their Impact on Sales Force Satisfaction," 127–146
Coaching: chaos/complexity theories and, 322, 328; definition of, 326; employee development and, 289; organization behavior/systems theory and, 327–328; problems in, 325; psychodynamic theory and, 325–328; terminology of, 326
Coercive isomorphism: division of labor and, 253; economic influences and, 252–253; exchange theory and, 252; new social contract and, 254; organizational legitimacy and, 254; social expectations and, 252
Cognitive learning, 11
Cognitive skill development, 11
Cohen, D. J., "The Relationship Between Organizational Support, Employee Development, and Organizational Commitment: An Empirical Study," 285–300
Collectivism, 365–366, 369, 388
Comparative product testing, 212
Competitive advantage: continuous learning and, 286; employee development and, 297; firm training and, 147; learning and, 301
Consequence cues, 203
Construct-oriented approach, to training evaluation, 11
Consumer information: certification and, 211; need for, 209–210; product quality and, 211; product testing and, 212; types/sources of, 212; values-practices disparity and, 210. See also HRD consumers
"Consumer Information: A Strategy for Integrating HRD Values and Practices," 209–215
Contingent workers, 215
Continuance commitment, 337
Continuing education, goal orientation and, 408
Continuous learning: competitive advantage and, 286; employee development and, 289, 297; as social imperative, 302
Core values, 305. See also Values
Creative learning, 424
Cultural dimensions (Hofstede's): Collectivism, 365; Fatalism, 366; Individualism, 365; Long-Term Orientation, 365–366; Paternalism, 366; Power Distance, 365
Cultural theory, 279
Culture, definition of, 268. See also Organizational culture

D

d'Amico, M., "Characteristics of Performance Appraisals and Their Impact on Sales Force Satisfaction," 127–146
De Meuse, K. P., "Developing an Instrument for Measuring Attitudes Toward and Perceptions of Workplace Diversity: An Initial Report," 33–51
Declarative knowledge, 11, 406–407, 413–414
Decoupling, 248, 259
"Developing an Instrument for Measuring Attitudes Toward and Perceptions of Workplace Diversity: An Initial Report," 33–51
Developing countries. See Less-developed countries (LDCs)
Developmental learning, 423–424
Diffusion, 256
Dilworth, R. L., "Shaping HRD for the New Millennium," 103–104
Dirsmith, M. W., "Organizational Socialization as Instrument and Symbol: An Extended Institutional Theory Perspective," 247–266
Discrimination: employee compensation and, 54; legislative/financial effects of, 54; organizational culture and, 54;

reasonable woman standard and, 54; recruitment practices and, 54. See also Perceived discrimination, job effects of (study)
Diversity. See Workplace diversity
Diversity awareness, 68. See also Workplace diversity
Donaldson, S. I., "Effects of Perceived Discrimination on Job Satisfaction, Organizational Commitment, Organizational Citizenship Behavior, and Grievances," 53–72
Dowling, P. J., "Analyzing Firm Training: Five Propositions for Future Research," 147–167
Drake, A. K., review by, 215–217

E

Economic development, HRD and: causes of, 438–439; developing countries and, 439–440; human capital and, 437–439, 442; multinational enterprises and, 440–441; training and, 438–439, 441–442
Editorial: "The End of the Beginning for HRDQ" 331–333; "Ethical Dilemmas and the Many Hats of HRD," 219–221; "Shaping HRD for the New Millennium," 103–104; "Workload, Stress, and Human Resource Development," 1–3
Effectiveness: organizational norms and, 223; of subject matter experts, 91–97
"Effectiveness of Subject Matter Experts as Technical Trainers, The," 91–97
"Effects of Perceived Discrimination on Job Satisfaction, Organizational Commitment, Organizational Citizenship Behavior, and Grievances," 53–72
Ellström, P., "Integrating Learning and Work: Problems and Prospects," 421–435
Emic tradition, 224
Employee development: benefits of, 286; business strategy and, 155; career-enhancing relationships and, 289; coaching and, 289, 296; competitive advantage and, 297; continuous learning and, 289, 297; definition of, 286; dyadic work relationships and, 289; as exchange, 288; employability and, 297; management development activities and, 296–297; manager role in, 287; manager satisfaction and, 288, 296; managerial support and, 289; mediation model and, 290–291; mentoring and, 289; on-the-job, 289; perceived organizational support and, 290–291; research on, 287; self-efficacy and, 289–290
Employee development, organizational commitment/support and (study): competitive advantage and, 297; data analysis, 292; discussion, 295–297; employability and, 297; future research, 297–298; hypotheses, 288–291; limitations, 297; management development activities and, 296–297; measures, 291; method, 291–292; organizational commitment and, 291, 296; perceived organizational support and, 291–292, 296; results, 292–295; sample, 291; satisfaction with employee development and, 292, 295–296
Employees: competitive advantage and, 285; participation of, 429–431; psychological contracts and, 338; workload and, 2–3. See also Contingent workers; Employee development, organizational commitment /support and (study); Perceived discrimination, job effects of (study)
Employment security, 286
"End of the Beginning for HRDQ, The," 331–333
Ensher, E. A., "Effects of Perceived Discrimination on Job Satisfaction, Organizational Commitment, Organizational Citizenship Behavior, and Grievances," 53–72
Equity theory, 198–200
"Ethical Dilemmas and the Many Hats of HRD," 219–221
Ethics, HRD and: awareness of, 220; coursework in, 220; defining, 220; interest in, 219–220; nonprofits and, 235; performance improvement and, 320; research questions on, 221; social value-added and, 320, 323
Ethnographic research, 224
Evaluation: international training and, 280–281; Kirkpatrick's four-level model of, 10, 73, 322. See also Reaction evaluation; Training evaluation
Exchange theory, 252, 288, 290
Executive Coaching: Developing Managerial Wisdom in a World of Chaos, reviewed, 325–328

Executives: coaching of, 322–328; for-profit, 225, 243; HRD and, 225; organizational norms and, 223; organizational stories and, 226; people issues and, 225; trust and, 236. See also Nonprofit executives, work beliefs of (study)
Expectancy theory, 197–198, 200
Externalization, in organizations, 258
Extra-role performance, 337
Extrinsic rewards, 198

F

Fatalism, 366, 377
Feature: "The Influence of Individual Characteristics and the Work Environment on Varying Levels of Training Outcomes," 5–23; "Invited Reaction: Posttraining Interventions to Enhance Transfer," 121–125; "Invited Reaction: The Influence of Individual Characteristics and the Work Environment on Varying Levels of Training Outcomes," 25–32; "Invited Reaction: The Relationship Between Training and Organizational Commitment—A Study in the Health Care Field," 353–361; "Invited Reaction: Understanding the Work Beliefs of Nonprofit Executives Through Organizational Stories," 241–246; "Posttraining Interventions to Enhance Transfer: The Moderating Effects of Work Environments," 105–120; "The Relationship Between Training and Organizational Commitment: A Study in the Health Care Field," 335–352; "Understanding the Work Beliefs of Nonprofit Executives Through Organizational Stories," 223–239
Feedback: definition of, 426; functions of, 426; goals and, 426–427; learning and, 426–427; problems with, 427
Firm training: employee relations and, 148; establishing/stabilizing factors for, 148–149; factors influencing, 147–149; firm competitiveness and, 147; human resource development and, 147–148; long-term skills development and, 149; organizational innovation and, 149; strategy-making and, 148–149; technology and, 148; triggering factors for, 148–149; trust and, 149; within-the-enterprise factors and, 149; work organization and, 148
Firm training (study): automation and, 156–158; award structuring and, 159–160; business strategy and, 151–155; cases, 150; conclusion, 164; criteria, 150–151; data analysis, 151–152; employee development and, 155; employment size and, 150; expenditures and, 152; firm competitiveness and, 153–154; future research, 159, 163; home country locations and, 151; implications, 159; industrial relations and, 159–163; industrial relations climate and, 160–163; management commitment and, 163–165; managerial attitudes and, 163–164; measures, 151; propositions, 155, 157, 159, 162; research method, 149–152; technology and, 151, 156–157; theoretical framework and, 147–149; unions and, 161–162; work organization and, 151, 157–159
Flexible manufacturing system (FMS), 429–430
Fogarty, T. J., "Organizational Socialization as Instrument and Symbol: An Extended Institutional Theory Perspective," 247–266
Foreign direct investment (FDI), 440
Forum: "Consumer Information: A Strategy for Integrating HRD Values and Practices," 209–215; "The Effectiveness of Subject Matter Experts as Technical Trainers," 91–97; "A Perspective Adjustment to Add Value to External Clients (Including Society)," 319–324; "The Role of HRS in Economic Development," 437–443
Full Leadership Development: Building the Vital Forces in Organizations, reviewed, 99–102

G

Generalization, of training, 105
Global Leadership and Organizational Behavior Effectiveness (GLOBE) study, 368–369
Goal orientation: continuing education and, 408; definition of, 404; learning, 407–410; motivation to learn and, 404; performance, 407–410

"Goal Orientation and Practice Condition as Predictors of Training Results," 403–419
Goal setting, 199
Goal-setting theory, 199–200
Goal-setting training, 106
Grant-Vallone, E. J., "Effects of Perceived Discrimination on Job Satisfaction, Organizational Commitment, Organizational Citizenship Behavior, and Grievances," 53–72
Group drive, 389, 397
Group potency, 388–389, 397
Guerra, I., "A Perspective Adjustment to Add Value to External Clients (Including Society)," 319–324

H

Hansen, C. D., "Understanding the Work Beliefs of Nonprofit Executives Through Organizational Stories," 223–239
Hertenstein, E. J., "Goal Orientation and Practice Condition as Predictors of Training Results," 403–419
Hinkin, T. R., "The Influence of Individual Characteristics and the Work Environment on Varying Levels of Training Outcomes," 5–23
Hospitals, HRD in. See HRD, as evolutionary (study)
Hostager, T. J., "Developing an Instrument for Measuring Attitudes Toward and Perceptions of Workplace Diversity: An Initial Report," 33–51
"HRD as an Emergent and Negotiated Evolution: An Ethnographic Case Study in the British National Health Service," 169–193
HRD, as evolutionary (study): analysis, 178; context, 175; findings, 178–185; HRD practitioner role/function and, 182–184; individual issues and, 184–185; methods, 175–178; negotiated evolution model and, 172–173; NHS hospitals and, 175–185; organizational changes and, 181–182; propositions, 176; purpose, 169; research design, 173–178; research questions, 176; social changes and, 178–181; training/development and, 180, 185–187
HRD consumers: definition of, 210–211; HRD value-practice disparity and, 210; product information and, 210–213; product purchasing of, 209–210. See also Consumer information; HRD products
HRD practice: changes in, 103; future search for, 104; organizational performance and, 286;
HRD products: assessing, 209–210; certification and, 211; comparative testing of, 212; consumer information and, 211; HRD values and, 210; proliferation of, 209; quality of, 211. See also HRD consumers
Human capital theory, 437–438, 442
Human resource development (HRD): characteristics of, 175; conclusions, 189–190; context and, 175; contingency framework model of, 172–174; definition of, 170; as discursive action, 174; as discursive construction, 171, 174; emergence of, 169–173; future research and, 189–190; as gel, 187; human capital theory and, 437–439, 442; international research needs in, 363–364; limitations, 188–189; as negotiated evolution, 172–173; negotiated order perspective of, 171–172; psychological contracts and, 338; reward systems and, 339; as sell, 187; as social construction, 174; as tell, 185–186; theoretical foundations of, 170; training effectiveness and, 336; in United Kingdom, 169–170; ways of conceptualizing, 174–175. See also Economic development, and HRD; Ethics, HRD and; HRD, as evolutionary (study); HRD consumers; HRD practice; HRD products
Human resource management (HRM): business strategy and, 152–153; evolution of, 175; performance issues and, 215; staffing and, 215–216; trends in, 215; workplace change and, 215–217

I

Identical elements theory, 201–202
Ilgen, D. R., The Changing Nature of Performance: Implications for Staffing, Motivation, and Development, reviewed, 215–217
In-role performance, 337
INDEPENDENT SECTOR, 368

Individualism, 365–366, 369, 388
"Ineffective Reaction Evaluation," 73–90
"Influence of Individual Characteristics and the Work Environment on Varying Levels of Training Outcomes, The," 5–23
Institutional theory: decoupling, 248, 259–260; social reality creation and, 258; Theory Z, 259; Total Quality Management, 259
"Integrating Learning and Work: Problems and Prospects," 421–435
Integrative learning, 404
Internalization, in organizations, 258–259
International management: cultural value issues and, 365–367; leadership-culture interface and, 368–370; leadership issues and, 367–368; research needs in, 363–364
International training: adapting approaches in, 268, 280–281; cultural expectations and, 267–268, 281; evaluation of, 280–281; increase in, 267; instructional behaviors in, 268–269, 281
International training, instructional behaviors in (study): appropriateness of instructional behaviors and, 269, 273–274, 278–279; cross-cultural rating differences and, 269, 274–276, 278–279; design, 272; discussion, 278–280; evaluation and, 280–281; HRD practice and, 280–281; implications, 280–281; influence of background characteristics on rating and, 269, 276–280; instrumentation, 270–272; limitations, 281; literature review, 267–269; method, 270–273; participants, 269–270, 272–273; research questions, 269, 273–278; results, 273–278
Intervention fulfillment, 200
Intrinsic rewards, 198
"Invited Reaction: Posttraining Interventions to Enhance Transfer," 121–125
"Invited Reaction: The Influence of Individual Characteristics and the Work Environment on Varying Levels of Training Outcomes," 25–32
"Invited Reaction: The Relationship Between Training and Organizational Commitment—A Study in the Health Care Field," 353–361
"Invited Reaction: Understanding the Work Beliefs of Nonprofit Executives Through Organizational Stories," 241–246

J

Jacobs, R. L. "The End of the Beginning for HRDQ" 331–333
Job complexity, mental health and, 2
Job involvement, 340
Job satisfaction: definition of, 341; equity and, 198; organizational commitment and, 340–341; perceived discrimination and, 58, 61, 63–64, 66–67; performance and, 341; workload and, 2
Job security, 286

K

Kaufman, R., "A Perspective Adjustment to Add Value to External Clients (Including Society)," 319–324
Kazakhstan. See Post-Communist countries, leadership and work values in (study)
Kilburg, R. R., Executive Coaching: Developing Managerial Wisdom in a World of Chaos, reviewed, 325–328
Kirkpatrick's four-level typology, 10, 73, 322
Klein, H. J., "Invited Reaction: The Relationship Between Training and Organizational Commitment—A Study in the Health Care Field," 353–361
Knowledge worker, 256
Kunneman, D. E., "Consumer Information: A Strategy for Integrating HRD Values and Practices," 209–215

L

Laissez-faire leadership, 100
Leadership: commitment and, 101; genetic predisposition to, 100; nontransactional, 100; perspective taking and, 101; shared, 100; transactional, 100–101, 367–368; types of, 100; vulnerability and, 101. See also Post-Communist countries, leadership and work values (study); Transformative leadership
Leadership development, 99–101
Leadership styles, 364. See also Leadership
"Leadership Styles and Work-Related Values of Managers and Employees of "Manufacturing Enterprises in Post-Communist Countries," 363–383

Leadership theories: cultural dimensions and, 366–367; transcultural dimensions and, 368; transformative vs. transactional 367–368; Western assumptions and, 368
Leadership training, 364. See also Training/development
Learning: adaptive, 423–424; change and, 301; competitive advantage and, 301; conceptions of, 422–425; creative, 424; developmental, 423–424; goal orientation and, 404; importance of, 301; integrative practice and, 404; motivation and, 6, 8, 11; multidimensional perspective on, 20; organizational survival and, 303; productive, 424: reproductive, 423; self-efficacy and, 6; stress and, 2; training and, 196–197; training design and, 404; workload and, 2. See also Learning, and work; Motivation to learn; Work-related learning, as core value (study)
Learning, and work: definition of, 305; employee attitudes toward, 306; employee participation and, 429–431; evaluation/reflection and, 427; experiential learning and, 431; exploitation vs. exploration and, 431–432; factors affecting, 425–433; feedback and, 426–427; learning goals and, 426–427; learning potential of task and, 425–426, 432; learning readiness and, 426; learning resources and, 431–432; modes of learning and, 422–425; objective-subjective work factors and, 425–426; organizational learning and, 422, 427; research emphasis on, 421; time and, 431; time spent on, 301–302; work process formalization and, 428–429; workplace reform and, 421–422. See also Work-related learning, as core value (study)
Learning goal orientation, 407–410
Learning organization, definition of, 301
Learning outcomes: affective-based, 11–12; cognitive-based, 11; individual differences and, 404; reactions-based, 11–12; skill-based, 11; training environment and, 404; transfer motivation and, 200; utility-based, 12
Learning potential of task, 425–426
Learning readiness, 426
Less-developed countries (LDCs): economic development of, 439–440; multinational enterprises and, 440–441; research questions for, 441–442
Lester, S. W., "Applying a Team Effectiveness Framework to the Performance of Student Case Teams," 385–402

M

Maintenance, of training, 105
Managerial subcultures, 242–243
Massed practice, 404, 409–412, 415–417
Mathieu, J. E., "The Influence of Individual Characteristics and the Work Environment on Varying Levels of Training Outcomes," 5–23
McLean, G. N., "Ethical Dilemmas and the Many Hats of HRD," 219–221; "Theories Supporting Transfer of Training," 195–208
McClernon, T. R., review by, 325–328
Mega level of planning, 320
Mega results, 321. See also Value-added
Mentoring: across organizational hierarchy, 257; employee development and, 289; formal, 255; informal, 256; as mimetic mechanism, 255; organizational structure and, 255; perceived discrimination and, 68–69
Mimetic isomorphism: career paths and, 257; definition of, 254; diffusion and, 256; mentoring and, 255–256; modeling and, 254–255
Modeling, 254–255
Moran, L., review by, 445–447
Motivation: goal orientation and, 404; internal characteristics and, 403; self-efficacy and, 406; training outcomes and, 6, 403. See also Motivation to learn; Transfer motivation Motivation to learn, 6, 8, 11, 340–347, 403–404
Motivation to transfer. See Transfer motivation
Multinational enterprises (MNEs): global human resource development and, 440; less-developed countries and, 440–441; research questions about, 441

N

Near-and-far transfer theory, 201–202
Negotiated evolution perspective, 172–173

Negotiated order perspective, 171–172
Negotiation skills training, 107–108
New social contract, 254
Nonprofit executives, work beliefs of (study): bonding aspects in, 234–235; business acumen in, 232, 235; conceptual framework, 224–226; conclusions, 236; critique of, 241–245; data analysis, 228–229; data collection, 228; data triangulation, 228; discussion, 234–235; ethical issues in, 235; external politics and, 233–234; findings, 229–234; vs. for-profit organizations, 233–234; for-profit research and, 224–225; functions in, 231–232; funding issues in, 232, 241; future research, 236; HRD practice and, 223, 235–236, 242, 245; implications, 235–236, 245; leadership in, 234, 241; methods, 226–229; mission of, 229–231, 233, 236; motivating forces in, 231, 232; obstacles in, 233–234; organizational culture and, 224–225, 244; organizational stories and, 225–226, 244–245; participants, 226–227; people issues in, 225, 232–233; personnel development in, 231–232, 236; rational structure in, 224, 235–236; research questions, 225–226, 234, 243–244; service quality and, 231, 233–234; spirituality of, 228–230, 232, 234, 243, 245; strategic planning in, 232, 235–236; strategic support for, 236; work definitions and, 230–231, 234
Nonprofit organizations (NPOs): accountability in, 224; bonding aspects in, 234–235; business acumen in, 232, 235; ethical issues in, 235; external politics and, 233–234; forecasting in, 224; vs. for-profit organizations, 233–234; functions in, 231–232; funding issues in, 232, 241; HRD practice and, 223, 235–236, 242, 245; as learning organization, 236; leadership in, 234, 241; mission of, 229–231, 233, 236; motivating forces in, 231, 232; obstacles in, 233–234; people issues in, 225, 232–233; personnel development in, 231–232, 236; rational structure in, 224, 235–236; research on management in, 224; service quality and, 231, 233–234; spirituality of, 228–230, 232, 234, 243, 245; strategic planning in, 232, 235–236; strategic support for, 236; trust and, 236
Nontransactional leadership, 100
Normative commitment, 337
Normative isomorphism: interest groups and, 251–252; organizational structure and, 251; professional roles and, 251; professionalism and, 249–250; technical context and, 251

O

Objectification, in organizations, 258
Occupational culture: cultural membership and, 224; HRD as, 242; managerial subculture and, 242–243; nonprofit executives and, 224–225, 241–242
Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD), 147
Organization Development Institute, 220–221
Organization theory, 203–205
Organizational change: negotiated order perspective of, 172; workplace diversity and, 50
Organizational commitment: affective, 337; as affective outcome, 355; competitiveness and, 355; components of, 357; constructs of, 337; continuance, 337; definition of, 287, 336; employee behavior and, 337; employee satisfaction and, 288, 296–297; HRD and 348–349; investment in employees and, 354; job involvement/satisfaction and, 340–341; job security and, 286; managerial style and, 287; multidimensionality of, 336; negative aspects of, 355; normative, 337; organizational change and, 354; as outcome measure, 353–356; performance and, 336–337, 354; psychological contracts and, 338; regular use and, 355–356; research on, 287; social exchange theory and, 354–355; targeted use and, 356; training and, 337–338; training participation and, 337–338; training transfer and, 338; workplace attitudes and, 340; workplace outcomes and, 337. See also Employee development, organizational commitment/support and (study)
Organizational culture: definitions of, 305; discrimination and, 54; effectiveness and, 223; executive role and, 223; leadership style and, 364; nonprofits and, 224–225, 244; socialization and, 250, 260

Organizational learning, 422, 427. See also Learning, and work
Organizational legitimacy, 254
Organizational socialization: coercive isomorphism and, 252–254; definition of, 250; externalization of, 258; future research on, 260–261; HRD practice and, 249, 261–262; importance of, 247; institutional forces in, 249–258; institutionalization of, 258; internalization of, 258–259; mimetic isomorphism and, 254–258; new technologies and, 256; normative isomorphism and, 249–252; objectification of, 258; organizational culture and, 260; organizational social system and, 260; organizational structure and, 247–253; training and, 256
"Organizational Socialization as Instrument and Symbol: An Extended Institutional Theory Perspective," 247–266
Organizational stories: analysis of, 226; emic tradition and, 224; as metaphor, 226; nonprofit executives and, 226; as reflection of culture, 226; storyline components of, 226
Organizational structure: definition of, 247; division of labor and, 253; professional roles and, 251; professionals and, 250; socialization and, 247, 253; symbolic role of, 247–248
Organizations: conflicting problems of, 285; division of labor in, 253; economic rewards in, 252–253; externalization in, 258; homogeneity of, 249; HRD practice and, 249; individual actions in, 249; institutional practices in, 248–249; institutional theory and, 258–262; internalization in, 258–259; objectification in, 258; rational actors in, 259; social system in, 260; social value-added and, 319; socialization in, 247, 249; symbolic elements in, 248; values of, 320. See also Organizational change; Organizational commitment; Organizational culture; Organizational learning; Organizational society; Organizational structure

P

Paternalism, 366–367
Perceived access to training, 339
Perceived discrimination, job effects of (study): background characteristics and, 62; control variables and, 62–63; discussion, 66–70; diversity awareness training and, 68; future research and, 67; grievances and, 58, 61–62, 66–67; human resources practices and, 54; hypotheses, 58; hypotheses testing, 63–66; job satisfaction and, 58, 61, 63–64, 66–67; limitations, 69; measures, 59–62; mentoring and, 68; method, 58–59; organizational citizenship behavior and, 58, 61, 65–67; organizational commitment and, 58, 61, 64–67; organizational outcomes and, 61–62; overall perceived discrimination and, 62, 66; participant ethnicity and, 59, 67–69; participants, 59; perceived coworker discrimination and, 59–61; perceived organizational discrimination and, 61; perceived supervisor discrimination and, 61; procedure, 59; Project WORKWELL and, 59; purpose, 53–54; results, 62–63; social desirability bias and, 62; strengths, 69–70; theoretical background, 54–56; work attitudes/behavior and, 56–58; work environment and, 66. See also Discrimination
Performance: changing issues in, 215–217; goal setting and, 106, 199; HRD practice and, 286, 336; job satisfaction and, 341; organizational commitment and, 337, 354; rewards and, 198; stress and, 2; training and, 302, 336; training transfer and, 124–125, 195; work practices and, 403
Performance appraisals, and salesperson satisfaction (study): appraisal criteria and, 136, 138–139, 142; conclusion, 143; future research, 143; human resource implications of, 128, 141–142; hypotheses, 130–135; implications, 141–142; job satisfaction and, 136–137; literature review, 128–130; methodology, 135–137; multiple uses of, 127; perceptions and satisfaction and, 137, 141; purpose, 127–128; results, 137–141; sales management and, 127; sample characteristics and, 137–138; sample selection, 135–136; tests of hypotheses and, 139–141
Performance goal orientation, 407–410
Performance improvement: ethical issues and, 320; mega level of planning in, 320; value-added issues and, 319

Pershing, J. A., "Ineffective Reaction Evaluation," 73–90
Pershing, J. L., "Ineffective Reaction Evaluation," 73–90
"Perspective Adjustment to Add Value to External Clients (Including Society), A," 319–324
Petrosko, J. M., "Appropriate and Inappropriate Behaviors for International Training," 267–283
Pettijohn, C. E., "Characteristics of Performance Appraisals and Their Impact on Sales Force Satisfaction," 127–146
Pettijohn, L. S., "Characteristics of Performance Appraisals and Their Impact on Sales Force Satisfaction," 127–146
Post-Communist countries, leadership and work values in (study): data analysis, 373–374; discussion, 377–380; fatalism and, 366, 377; future research and, 378–380; goals, 364; Hofstede's cultural value dimensions and, 366–367, 377–378, 380; hypotheses, 367–370; implications, 379–380; individualism versus collectivism and, 369, 378; instrumentation, 371–373; leadership style and, 367–369, 378, 380; limitations, 379; methodology, 370–374; paternalism and, 366–367; results, 374–377
Posttraining interventions, and training transfer (study): advantage of, 118; critique of, 121–125; data sources, 106, 121; descriptive statistics, 113; design, 109–110, 121–122; discussion, 116–119; future research and, 118; goal-setting training and, 106, 109, 116–117, 121, 123; hypotheses, 107–108; hypotheses testing, 114–116; limitations of, 118, 121–122, 122; manipulation check and, 113; measures, 111–112; method, 109–113; participants, 109; performance improvement and, 106, 123–125; practice implications of, 119; previous studies and, 106; procedure, 110–111; purpose of, 105–106; results, 113–116; self-management training and, 106–107, 109, 116–117, 121, 123; trainee perceptions and, 117, 122; transfer generalization and, 112–113; transfer maintenance and, 112–113; work environment and, 105, 108–109, 117–118
"Posttraining Interventions to Enhance Transfer: The Moderating Effects of Work Environments," 105–120
Practice: cramming for SAT as, 404; massed, 404, 409–412, 415–417; spaced, 404, 409–412, 415–417
Principles theory, 201–202
Productive learning, 424
Productivity, training and, 195, 336
Profession, 249–250
Professionalism, 249–250
Professionals: normative influence of, 249–250; organizational display of, 250; organizational structure and, 250; performance standards of, 250; socialization of, 250–251; technical context and, 251
Psychological contracts, 338–339
Pulakos, E. D., The Changing Nature of Performance: Implications for Staffing, Motivation, and Development, reviewed, 215–217

R

Radical Team Handbook: Harnessing the Power of Team Learning for Breakthrough Results, The, reviewed, 445–447
Reaction evaluation: purpose of, 76; uses of, 73. See also Reactionnaires
Reaction-to-Diversity (R-T-D) inventory, 34, 38–50
Reactionnaires: assessment of, 74; bias and, 78; defined, 73–74; design of, 74–76; development guidelines for, 74–81; elements of, 73–76; formative versus summative, 77; goal of, 76, 78; question construction and, 78; question dimensions and, 76–77; question response formats and, 78–81; scales and, 79–81
Reactionnaires, usefulness of (study): data, 81; methods, 81–82; question construction and, 84; question dimensions and, 84; question response formats and, 84; reactionnaire design and, 82–83; reactionnaire development and, 74–81; results, 82–84; summary/conclusions, 84–85
Reactions-based learning, 11–12
Reasonable woman standard, 54
Redding, J. C., The Radical Team Handbook: Harnessing the Power of Team Learning for Breakthrough Results, reviewed, 445–447
"Relationship Between Organizational Support, Employee Development, and Organizational Commitment: An Empirical Study, The," 285–300

"Relationship Between Training and Organizational Commitment: A Study in the Health Care Field, The," 335–352
Reproductive learning, 423
Research-to-Practice Committee (ASTD), 103
Reviews: The Changing Nature of Performance: Implications for Staffing, Motivation, and Development, 215–217; Executive Coaching: Developing Managerial Wisdom in a World of Chaos, 325–328; Full Leadership Development: Building the Vital Forces in Organizations, 99–102; The Radical Team Handbook: Harnessing the Power of Team Learning for Breakthrough Results, 445–447
Rewards: expectancy theory and, 198; extrinsic/intrinsic, 198; HRD and, 339; Porter-Lawler extension and, 198
Richman-Hirsch, W. L., "Posttraining Interventions to Enhance Transfer: The Moderating Effects of Work Environments," 105–120
Rocco, T. S., "Invited Reaction: Understanding the Work Beliefs of Nonprofit Executives Through Organizational Stories," 241–246
"Role of HRD in Economic Development, The," 437–443
Russ-Eft, D., "Workload, Stress, and Human Resource Development," 1–3
Russia. See Post-Communist countries, leadership and work values in (study)

S

Sambrook, S., "HRD as an Emergent and Negotiated Evolution: An Ethnographic Case Study in the British National Health Service," 169–193
Self-efficacy: coaching and, 289–290; definition of, 406; individual influences on, 7–8; job involvement and, 8; job support and, 9; managerial support and, 9; motivation and, 406; motivation to learn and, 6, 8; organizational commitment and, 8; organizational support and, 9–10; pretraining motivation and, 7; task-specific, 414; as training outcome, 406–407; work environment and, 8; work influences on, 8–10
Self-management training, 106–107
Sexual harassment, 54. See also Discrimination
"Shaping HRD for the New Millennium," 103–104
Situation cues, 203
Skill-based learning, 11
Skills polarization theory, 156
Sleezer, C. M., "Consumer Information: A Strategy for Integrating HRD Values and Practices," 209–215
Smile tests, 74. See also Reactionnaires
Smith, A., "Analyzing Firm Training: Five Propositions for Future Research," 147–167
Social value-added. See Value-added
Socialization: careers and, 257; definition of, 250; diffusion and, 255; importance of, 247; mentoring and, 255–256; modeling and, 254–255; reinforcement and, 254; training and, 256. See also Organizational socialization
Society for Industrial and Organizational Psychology, 219
Spaced practice, 404, 409–412, 415–417
Staffing, 215–216
State-of-the-Industry Report (ASTD), 103
Stress, in workplace, 1–3
Stress management, 2
Structural equation modeling (SEM): elements in applying, 26–28; measurement issues and, 27; measurement scales and, 29; modeling strategy and, 27–28; notation conformity and, 30; potency of, 28; theoretical issues and, 26–27
Student case teams, effectiveness of (study): communication and, 398; conclusions, 400; discussion, 396–400; future research and, 399–400; group drive and, 389, 397; group potency and, 388–389, 397; hypotheses, 388–390; implications, 398; instructor role and, 396; limitations, 399; measures, 391–393; method, 390–393; purpose, 386; research on, 385–386; research questions, 386; results, 393–396; sampling, 390–391; social support and, 387, 397; task, 391; teaching structure and, 388, 396; team performance and, 387, 397; team process variables and, 387; team satisfaction and, 393, 396; team size and, 393, 399; team spirit, 388–389, 392, 397; theoretical framework, 386–390; within-group communication and, 390, 392; workload sharing and, 389–390, 392, 398

Subject matter experts (SMEs): advantages of, 92; defined, 92; drawbacks of, 92; effectiveness of, 93; professional development of, 94; technical, 91–92. See also Technical trainers

T

Tannenbaum, S., "The Influence of Individual Characteristics and the Work Environment on Varying Levels of Training Outcomes," 5–23
Tansky, J. W., "The Relationship Between Organizational Support, Employee Development, and Organizational Commitment: An Empirical Study," 285–300
Task-specific self-efficacy, 414
Tayloristic model, 412, 430
Teamwork: college students and, 386; organizational change and, 385. See also Work teams
Technical trainers: adult education precepts and, 92–93; advantages of, 92; drawbacks of, 92; effectiveness of, 93–94; evaluation of, 94; experience of, 94; future research on, 95; increasing use of, 91; professional development of, 94; studies on, 92. See also Subject matter experts (SMEs)
Technical training: adult education and, 93–94; atheoretical practice and, 94–95; attributes of, 91–92; background on, 91; studies on, 91; technical subject matter experts and, 91–92; technological innovation and, 91; widespread use of, 91. See also Technical trainers
Technology: automation and, 156–158; degradation of work and, 156; firm training and, 151, 156–157
"Theories Supporting Transfer of Training," 195–208
Theory building, 25–26
Tracey, J. B., "The Influence of Individual Characteristics and the Work Environment on Varying Levels of Training Outcomes," 5–23
Training, organizational commitment and, (study): causal directionality and, 358; commitment as outcome measure and, 353–356; conceptual issue about, 357–358; conclusions, 346–347; critique of, 353–360; definition of terms and, 336, 357–358; future research on, 348, 359–360; HRD practice/theory and, 348–349; hypotheses, 339–341; hypothesized interaction and, 358; implications, 346–347; job involvement/satisfaction and, 340–341; limitations, 347–348; management support and, 339, 345–347; measures, 342–343; method, 341–343; methodological issues about, 358–359; motivation to learn and, 340, 345–347; multiorganizational research and, 354–355; perceived benefits of, 340, 345–347; problem statement, 337–338; procedures, 342–343; regular use as outcome measure and, 355–356; results, 343–346; sample, 342; targeted use as outcome measure and, 356; theoretical framework, 338–340; training access and, 339, 345–347; training participation and, 337–338, 345
Training design, 404
Training/development: award structuring and, 159–160; business strategy and, 152–153; costs, 195, 302–303, 335; definition of, 336, 357–358; economic development and, 438–439, 441–442; as entitlement, 338; goal setting and, 106, 109; individual differences and, 416; intervention fulfillment and, 200; Kirkpatrick's four-level evaluation model and, 10, 73, 322; management commitment and, 163–165; negotiation skills and, 107–108; organizational commitment and, 337–338; organizational variation in, 302–303; perceived benefits of, 340; performance and, 302, 336; productivity and, 195, 336; return on investment and, 355–356; self-management and, 106–107, 109; as tell, sell, and gel, 185–187; uneven access to, 302; workplace diversity and, 34, 49–50, 68. See also Employee development; Employee development, organizational commitment/support and (study); Firm training (study); International training; Posttraining interventions; Technical training; Training, organizational commitment and (study); Training evaluation; Training outcomes; Training transfer
Training evaluation: construct-oriented approach to, 11; Kirkpatrick's four-level typology and, 10, 73, 322

Training motivation, 200
Training outcomes: motivation and, 6; practice opportunities and, 5; pretraining motivation and, 5; self-efficacy and, 6; sequencing and, 5; situational constraints and, 6; studies on, 5–6
Training outcomes, goal orientation and practice and (study): affective outcomes and, 406, 413; applications, 416–417; background, 403–405; behavioral outcomes and, 406–407; cognitive outcomes and, 406, 413; declarative knowledge and, 406–407, 413–414; discussion, 415–417; goal, 405; hypotheses, 409–411, 414–415; limitations, 416; massed vs. spaced practice and, 409–410, 416; measures, 412–414; method, 412–414; participants, 412; posttraining measures, 413–414; pretraining assessment and, 412–413; results, 414–415; self-efficacy and, 406–407, 414; theoretical issues, 411; training design and, 409–410; training design–individual differences interaction and, 410–411; training effectiveness and, 407–409; training evaluation outcomes and, 405–407; work skills and, 406–407
Training outcomes, individual/work characteristics and (study): analyses, 14–15; conclusion, 21–22; critique of, 25–31; discussion, 18–21; evaluation of, 20; implications for future research, 20–21; individual influences on self-efficacy and, 7–8, 13–14, 19–20; levels of training and, 10–12; limitations, 21; measures, 13–14, 29–30; method, 12–15; model, 6, 28; modeling strategy and, 30–31; pretraining motivation and, 7, 13–14, 19; procedure, 13; purposes, 6; results, 15–18; revised model, 18; sample, 12–13; self-efficacy and, 7–10, 13; theoretical basis and, 28–29; training, 13. See also Structural equation modeling (SEM)
Training participation: employee perceptions and, 339; management support and, 339; motivation to learn and, 340; organizational commitment and, 337–338; perceived benefits and, 340; training access and, 339
Training transfer: climate framework, 203–204; conditions of, 105; generalization and, 105; goal setting and, 106, 109; Holton's factors affecting, 196; input factors and, 196; learning and, 196–197; maintenance and, 105; model of, 196; organization theory and, 203–205; organizational commitment and, 338; output factors and, 196; performance improvement and, 123–125; self-management and, 106–107, 109; transfer conditions and, 196; work environment and, 105, 108–109; workplace cues and, 203–204. See also Posttraining interventions, and training transfer (study); Training transfer theories
Training transfer theories: equity theory, 198–200; expectancy theory, 197–200; future research and, 206; goal-setting theory, 199–200; HRD implications and, 205–206; identical elements theory, 201–202; near-and-far transfer theory, 201–202; organization theory and, 203–205; principles theory, 201–202; training design and, 200–203; transfer climate and, 203–205; transfer climate framework and, 203; transfer motivation and, 197–200
Transactional leadership, 100–101
Transfer motivation: equity theory and, 198–199; expectancy theory and, 197–198; expected utility/payoff and, 200; goal-setting theory and, 199; influences on, 199–200; intervention fulfillment and, 200; job attitudes and, 200; learning outcomes and, 200; theories on, 197–199
Transfer of training. See Training transfer
Transformational leadership. See Transformative leadership
Transformative leadership: collectivism and, 369; definition of, 367; idealized influence and, 100; individualized consideration and, 100; inspirational motivation and, 100; intellectual stimulation and, 100; versus transactional, 367–368

U

"Understanding the Work Beliefs of Nonprofit Executives Through Organizational Stories," 223–239
Unions, firm training and, 161–162
United Kingdom, HRD in, 169–170, 175

V

Value-added: checklist for organizational, 320–321; checklist for perspective adjustment for, 322–323; ethical importance of, 320, 323; HRD role in, 322; importance of, 321; manufacturing examples and, 321; organizational requirement for, 319; organizational survival and, 323; performance improvement and, 319–320
Values: definition of, 305; of organizations, 320. See also Work-related learning, as core value (study)
Veale, J. R., "Work-Related Learning as a Core Value: An Iowa Perspective," 301–318

W

Werner, J. M., "Applying a Team Effectiveness Framework to the Performance of Student Case Teams," 385–402
Westbrook, T. S., "Work-Related Learning as a Core Value: An Iowa Perspective," 301–318
Wilensky, A. S., "Understanding the Work Beliefs of Nonprofit Executives Through Organizational Stories," 223–239
Williams, S. W., "The Effectiveness of Subject Matter Experts as Technical Trainers," 91–97
Women: discrimination and, 54; reasonable woman standard and, 54; sexual harassment of, 54
Work: automation and, 156–158; degradation of, 156; employee participation in, 429–431; formalization of, 428–429. See also Learning, and work; Work-related learning
Work environment, training transfer and, 105, 108–109. See also Organizational culture
Work force: competitive advantage and, 285; employment security and, 286; organizational flexibility and, 286. See also Workplace diversity
Work organization: firm training and, 151, 157–159; skills polarization and, 156
Work-related learning, as core value (study): age-related differences and, 314; core values and, 305, 314; definition of terms, 305; discussion, 314–316; education level and, 313, 315; findings, 306–312; further research, 317; gender differences and, 312–313; importance of, 314–315; individual considerations and, 304, 306–310, 314–315; limitations, 316–317; literature review, 302–303; methodology, 305–306; occupation and, 313–314; organizational considerations, 304, 310–312, 314; organizational culture and, 305; performance evaluations and, 315; purpose, 303; rationale for, 303–304; research questions, 304, 306–312; sample, 306, 316–317; secondary analysis, 312–314; theory-practice disconnect and, 316. See also Learning, and work
"Work-Related Learning as a Core Value: An Iowa Perspective," 301–318
Work teams: communication and, 390, 398; group potency and, 388–389, 397; organizational change and, 385; structure of, 388; student teams and, 386; team spirit and, 388–389; workload sharing and, 389–390. See also Student case teams, effectiveness of (study)
Work values. See Post-Communist countries, leadership and work values in (study)
Workload, 1–3
"Workload, Stress, and Human Resource Development," 1–3
Workplace: flexible manufacturing system, 429–430; reform in, 421–422; Tayloristic model and, 421, 430
Workplace change: continuous learning and, 216; HRM trends and, 215; motivational factors and, 216–217; performance issues and, 215; staffing issues and, 215–216
Workplace cues, 203–204
Workplace diversity: attitudinal/behavioral effects and, 34–35, 47; evaluation studies and, 34; literature on, 33; management of, 53–54; organizational change and, 50; questions about, 33–34; Reaction-to-Diversity inventory and, 34, 38–50; Texaco fiasco and, 33; training programs and, 34, 49–50, 68. See also Perceived discrimination, job effects of (study)
Workplace diversity, measurement of (study): ABC model of attitudes and, 35;

criterion-related validity and, 42–44; discussion, 46–50; five-dimensional framework and, 37; future research and, 49–50; goal, 34–35, 46; individual reactions and, 44–48; practice implications and, 48; procedure, 35–36 (part 1), 37–38 (part 2), 39–42 (part 3); Reaction-to-Diversity inventory and, 34, 38–50; results, 36–37 (part 1), 38–39 (part 2), 42–46 (part 3); Workplace Diversity Survey, 39, 41

Y

Yamnill, S., "Theories Supporting Transfer of Training," 195–208

Z

Zidan, S. S., "The Role of HRD in Economic Development," 437–443